Silly Slime

Issued Oct 2005

The longer you play with it, the more fun it gets! It stays fresh in a baby food jar for weeks. Try blowing bubbles with it, by stretching a blob over your lips and gently blowing.

Note: As in all recipes, results can vary depending on humidity, conditions, etc. Please try any recipe out before attempting in a group setting.

This project is rated VERY EASY to do.

What You Need

Note: This recipe is extremely messy. Be careful around furniture and carpets!

- Equal amounts of white glue and liquid laundry starch (it's by the laundry products in the store). Start with about 1/2 cup of each.

How To Make It

1. Measure equal amounts of the glue and liquid starch, about 1/2 cup to start, into a bowl.
2. Stir thoroughly.
3. Let rest 5 minutes.
4. Knead it with your hands, until it comes together. Just when you think it is ruined, it suddenly turns into a wonderful long-stranded glob!
